Test1 documentation 0.9

The pages as they stood before the 1.0 program model.

This is the documentation as it stood for the 0.9 build. It is kept because machines in the field still run it, and because a page that changes should leave the old wording behind rather than overwrite it.

What is different in 1.0

The program model changed: 1.0 downloads without stopping control, and 0.9 does not. If you are reading this version because the machine says 0.9, everything on this page still applies; if you are commissioning a new machine, read 1.0 instead.